

Arrivals: c:

- "Arrivals" refers to the act or process of arriving or coming to a particular place or destination. It can be used in various contexts, such as transportation, travel, events, or even in a general sense.
- In the context of transportation, "arrivals" often refers to the area or location where passengers or goods arrive at an airport, train station, bus terminal, or other transportation hubs

Bag drop

- a place, usually at an airport, where you can leave your cases and bags to be put on a plane if you have already checked in for the flight
- is a service or location at an airport, typically found in the check-in area, where passengers can drop off their checked baggage.

Baggage reclaim

- "Baggage reclaim," also known as "baggage claim" or "baggage carousel," is the area within an airport where arriving passengers retrieve their checked luggage or baggage after their flight. This area is typically located in the arrivals hall of an airport, usually near the customs and immigration facilities.
- The place at an airport where you get your bags, cases, etc. again after you have flown

Check-in

- to show your ticket at an airport so that you can be told where you will be sitting and so that your bags can be put on the aircraft
- "Check-in" refers to the process by which passengers confirm their presence on a flight, receive a boarding pass, and, if necessary, hand over their checked luggage to the airline before departure.

Customs

- Customs is a government agency or department responsible for regulating and controlling the flow of goods, people, and information into and out of a country.

- the official department that administers and collects the duties levied by a government on imported goods.

Departures

- the fact of a person or vehicle, etc. leaving somewhere
- Area or process where passengers and flights leave or depart from an airport.

Gates

- a part of an airport where travelers are allowed to get on or off a particular aircraft:
- refer to specific locations or areas within the airport terminal where passengers board and disembark from aircraft.

Lifts

- A lift is a vertical transportation device that is used to move people or goods between different levels or floors of a building.
- a device like a box that moves up and down, carrying people or goods from one floor of a building to another or taking people up and down underground in a mine

Passport control

- Also known as immigration control or border control, is a process at international borders, such as airports, seaports, and land border crossings, where immigration and customs authorities verify the identity and travel documents of individuals entering or leaving a country.
- The place at an airport, port, or border of a country where an official checks your passport

Security check

- The process of checking that a person is not armed, or carrying something dangerous
- also known as a security screening or security inspection, is a process designed to examine individuals, their belongings, or their surroundings to ensure safety and security in various settings.

Terminal

- made up of several gates where planes park and passengers wait to board
- refers to a dedicated building or facility where passengers go to check in for their flights, go through security screening, access departure gates, and often find various amenities such as shops, restaurants, and waiting areas.

Trolley

- an object with wheels that you use to transport luggage
- refers to a wheeled cart or platform designed for transporting luggage, bags, or other items.

Pick up(someone)

- a particular person out of those at the airport, presumably a person you intend to meet and take somewhere with you
- at the airport means to go to the airport to collect a person who is arriving on a flight

Drop off(someone)

- the person being dropped off will not be returning with the person who is doing
- at the airport means taking a person to the airport with the purpose of letting them disembark for their departing flight.